and stick him in the dresser drawer full of all my guilty pleasures and memories of yesterday.
I then remove my mask and crawl under the bed, where no one thinks to look for us anymore, and drift into fantasies full of all those familiar faces of my Neverland.

Jordan Rimpela